Why this Zoning Change Now?

- Environmental Justice: Zoning for heavy industry in lower-income communities like Hazelwood has a disproportionately negative impact on the health and well-being of historically marginalized Pittsburghers. We should be righting the wrongs of the past – not making them worse – by ensuring our zoning protects nearby residents both now and for the long-term.
- Hazelwood is Growing: From affordable housing, to safer streets, to economic development - the City of Pittsburgh, the URA, and our local non-profit foundation and university partners are investing heavily in the future of Hazelwood. Updating the zoning for Hazelwood's riverfront is part of supporting that growth and ensuring a safe and healthy environment for current residents as well as an inviting and enticing space for future residents.
- Reimagining Pittsburgh's Riverfronts: Over the past decade plus, Pittsburgh's relationship with its riverfronts has evolved drastically. Rather than treating them as a dumping ground for heavy industry and leaving them as polluted wasteland, we now recognize them as a valuable natural resource that boost our city's economy and improve quality of life for everyone. We need only look at the North Shore, South Side, and Strip District to see the future potential in Hazelwood.
